Environmental Leader Reports Taxpayer Revolt

Henry S. Bieniecki, chairman of the Madison County Citizens' Environmental Council, today contended that opposition to development of eastern Chouteau Tpwnship goes far beyond environmental issues and is "a broadly-based taxpayers' revolt."

broadly - based taxpayers' revolt."

He' also called for adoption of a Madison County Plan prepared by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning for the Madison County Board of Supervisor.

"Scuttling of the plan without adequate consideration by the Madison County Board or by a referendum of the voters would be criminally wasteful."

"It certainly would be a reasonable cause for concern by deedral officials who administer assistance funds for sewer, concern to the value of providing subsidies for hodge-podge developments that could be great burdens' on federal and local tax resources in the future," Bienetickly said.

PEOPLE PLEASERS" FOR 58 YEARS!

Since 1914, when C. W. Pershall opened the first TRL-CITY GROCERY store in Granite City, we've been firm be-lievers in good, old-fashined, home-spun neighborilees. We have successfully operated a supermarket chain in the greater metropolitan St. Louis area for the past 58 years We're not magicians, just plain food merchants. We can't pull robbits out of a fati, and give them away. We can, however, by working a little harder, keeping abreast of markets . . . taking a smaller profit, offer our customers their food needs at a much lower price

This by the way was the philosophy of C. W. Pershall back in 1914 . . . and it's still á good one . . . and we intend to stick to it!

Anti-Development Intervention Overstates What 'County Plan' Says About Bottomland

3st. Louisans several years ago tried to have all of Madison County banned to new industry. Although competing for the same plants, they said their only interest in intervening in Madison County was environmental: "Your air is so smoky that we're going to save you from your-self."

smoky that we're going to save you from your-self." With friends like that, Madison Countyans don't need any enemies. Now, all of a sudden we're receiving a lot more "help."

The new intervention, this time emphasizing drainage and "flood threats" rather than air quality, was by the Coallition for the Environment-St. Louis Region and the Department of Housing and Urban Development's John Wanes. Housing and Urban Development's John Wanes. High Speed of Trolleys Assailed

APRIL 6, 1922

The Granite City Commercial Citub adopted resolutions demanding enforcement of the city ordinance on speed of street cars. Limited trains of the Alton, Granite & St. Louis Traction System are said to pass through the city at 72 miles an hour. Concern was expressed for the safety of citizens, and Police Commissioner Guy Tetherington spid he will do all in his power to see that the ordinance is observed.

Mine Death Scene Is Inspected

APRIL 6, 1947

State Representative Lloyd "Curley" Harris (Democrat, Granite City) accompanied the state legislative committee on its inspection tour of the Centralia mine to investigate the tragedy which took a toll of 111 miners' lives. He said evidence of the terrifying explosion was clearly visible, and expressed the opin in that the state should create a bi-partian board of review with supervision over mine inspections, all working under civil service rather than by political appointment. "This tragedy civil just as well have occurred under previous administrations," Harris said. "because the same system of inspection has been followed for years, A change in this system is imperative."

I Houses for Sale

We Think So—and Heres' Why... In our opinion the Basement House, in the Granite City area, will increase in value, over the value of a non-basement or slab house with a garage, to the extent that its increased value should, within ten years, be worth the price of a new car to you.

The basement home, has the advantage of easy and inexpensive expansion for additional bedroom or family room, while you are making

In other words . . . the basement house has better, quicker, and higher re-sale value.
